A VERY LONG SESSION EXPECTED.

Probably No Vote Will be Reached on the Mills Bill Until After the St. Louis Convention - Other Gossip.

Washington, May 22.—[Special.]—The tariff bill will hardly again be called up until after the St. Louis convention, for since the republicans have refused to agree to Mr. Mills's proposition for a test vote, it is known that before the convention adopts it in its platform, thus forcing democrats who are now opposed to it to either vote for it or go into the ranks of republicanism. This will, of course, delay the final adjournment of congress and the prospects are now for a long session. The bill must be considered in detail for amendment and that consideration will probably take a full that consideration will probably take a same month. That being so, and as all the necessary legislation of the session has yet to be done, there is very little chance for an adjournment before the for an adjournment before the middle of August and some think that congress

The anxiety and interest of the presidential campaign new, however, will probably induce members to co-operate for an adjournment be-fore that time. If the tariff bill should be forced through the house by the action of the St. Louis convention, it will almost certainly fail in the senate. The lateness of its passage in the house will leave little time in the senate; but the senate, in any case, will most likely antagonize the house bill with a senate bill embodying the republican idea of tariff, and on the two bills the presidential campaign will

A DEPARTMENT OF LABOR. The Senate Passes the House Bill Providing for it-Other Business.

WASHINGTON, May 22 .- A message from the president returning without his approval, senate bill for the relief of L. J. Warden, was laid before the senate. The bill directs an al-lowance of $625 to Mr. Warden, recently postlowance of $625 to Mr. Warden, recently post-master at Lawrence, Kas., for extra clerk hire from July 1, 1882, to the 30th of June, 1883. The grounds of the veto are that the allow-ances to postmasters for clerk hire are fixed by the postoffice department; that in this case $3,100 was allowed; that applications for ad-ditional allowance were twice declined; that the expenses were, therefore, incurred at the postmaster's own risk; and that the passage of special acts in such cases would have a danger-ous tendency to encourage postmasters to sub-stitute their own judgment for that of the department and to relax wholesome disci-pline. The president adds that the time al-lowed by the constitution for the approval of pline. The president adds that the time allowed by the constitution for the approval of bills expired in this case on the 19th inst.; that the senate adjourned from May 17th till May 21st; that the message was drawn and engrossed on the 18th; that on the 19th the message and bill were tendered to the secretary of the senate, who declined to receive them; that they were then tendered to the president of the senate, who also declined to receive them, on the ground that they could only be presented to the senate in actual session, and that they were, therefore, transmitted as soon as sented to the senate in actual session, and that they were, therefore, transmitted as soon as the senate convened (yesterday).

With this explanation, Mr. Hoar remarked that the communication raised a very important constitutional question, to which the senate should give its careful consideration. He, therefore, moved its reference to the commit therefore, moved its reference to the commit-tee on privileges and elections. The doors were reopened at two o'clock p.m. The doors were reopened at two o'clock p.m., when the senate proceeded to the consideration of unfinished business, being the house bill to establish a department of labor, and Mr. Reagan addressed the senate in opposition. The bill, he said, was a mere tub thrown to the laboring whale. The laboring classes had many grounds of complaint, but he had never heard that they demanded a mere change in the manner of collecting information about labor as being sufficient to satisfy their complaints. The complaint was that the government had been, for many years past, (ever since the republican party got control of it) run in the interest, in short, of special favored classes to the injury and oppression of those engaged in agriculture, mechanics, arts, labor and professional occupations.

After a few amendments of phraseology the bill passed and a conference committee was ordered and Senators Blair, Wilson, of Iowa, and George were appointed conferees on part of the senate.

The bill provides for a department of labor one general design, the duties of which shall be to acquire and diffuse among the people of the United States, useful information on sub-jects connected with the department, in the pects connected with the department, in the most general and comprehensive sense of that word, and especially upon its relation to capital, hours of labor, carnings of laboring men and women, and means of promoting their material, social, intellectual and moral prosperity. The senate has decided, by a vote of 28 to 27, not to consider the fisheries treaty in open bession. The division was upon strict party lines, except in the case of Senator Hale, who voted with the democrats, adversely to the Riddleberger resolution. Upon the announcement of the result the body went at once into legislative session. No time has yet been fixed for taking up the treaty.

ATLANTA, GEORGIA, WEDNESDAY MORNING, MAY 23, 1888. CONVICT-MADE GOODS.

The Honse Takes up the Bill to Restrict the Washington, May 22.—In the house, Mr. Crisp, of Georgia, presented the conference report on the bill to bridge Cape Fear, Black and North East rivers in North Carolina, and and North East rivers in North Carolina, and it was agreed to.

The floor was then accorded to the committee on labor, and Mr. O'Neill, of Missouri, chairman of the committee, called up the bill to confine the sale of the products of convict labor to the state in which they are produced.

Mr. O'Neill endeavored to have an arrangement effected whereby debate on the bill should be limited to two fours, but opposition was made on the ground that the principle involved in the bill was too important to be restricted. The majority and minority reports were read at length, and an hour was thus consumed.

Mr. O'Neil explained that the measure

Mr. 20'Neil explained that the measure originated in a visit to this city of manufac-turers from New York, Brooklyn, Jersey City, Philadelphia, and other cities who appeared before the committee and pictured the before the committee and pictured the absolute ruin that stared them in the face from the competition of convict labor. Mr. Plumb, of Illinois, a member of the labor committee, opposed the bill on the ground that it was unconstitutional and interfered with interstate commerce.

Mr. Rogers, of Arkansas, held similar views.

Mr. Kayne, of Maryland, contended that the bill was constitutional under the provision giving congress the right to regulate commerce between the states.

Mr. Butterworth, of Ohio, opposed the bill, both or being borned at

Mr. Outhwaite, of Ohio, opposed it because it interferes with the rights of states, and Mr. Cannon, of Illinois, was unwilling that it should pass unless the importation of foreign goods, wholly or in part manufactured by convicts, was also prohibited.

Mr. Lodge, of Massachussetts, supported the bill as being both constitutional and wise.

Mr. Cannon, of Illinois, offered an amendment prohibiting the importation for commercial purposes all goods, wares or merchandise from any foreign country to the United States, which, in whole or in part, was manufactured or produced by convict labor, and prescribing or produced by convict labor, and prescribing penalties for the violation of this prohibition Adopted.

It was proven that he gave a portion of the stolen money to Miss Carroll, with which she purchased a house and lot at Spring City, Tenn. Before the bill was filed by the company in the United States court to recover the property, Miss Carroll had given her attorneys a deed of trust on the same to secure their fees. The decree of the court is as follows: The property to be sold, $100 to be paid first to defendant's attorneys, and the balance to be divided equally between the complainants and the defendant's attorneys. The property is valued at several thousand dellars.

GREENVILLE, S. C., May 22.—[Special.]—
Harvey Brown, a small boy aged nine years, met with a peculiar and serious accident yesterday while fishing in the mill race near Piedmont, South Carolina. As Harvey was drawing in his line it became wrapped around the upright shaft of the mill wheel, and at the same time around his arin, drawing him toward the wheel pit. In his efforts to free himself his arm was completely severed above the elbow by the line. His wounds are very painful, but it is thought that he will survive.

Washington, May 22.—Democratic members of the house committee on rivers and harbors are dismayed by the changes made in the bill by the senate committee, and express an intention to vigorously oppose most of those of importance. The fire was extinguished with some difficulty, when it was found that a colored man and white boy had gone to the cellar to draw varnish from barrels stored there. The boy carried a lighted candle, which probably ignited the vapor from the varnish. The Question Before the Presbyterian General Assembly

ON THE APPEAL OF DR. WOODROW

From the Decision of the Synod of Georgia —Argument on Both Sides of the Case-Other Religious Bodies. BALTIMORE, May 22.-The general assembly of the Southern Presbyterian church resumed business at 9:30 o'clock today. The greeting of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church, north, was received and ordered to be spread on the minutes. Rev. Dr. Smith, of the committee on publiations, reported the department to be in a prosperous condition, with a large surplus on hand. It recommended wider distribution of church publications by the employment of colporteurs. The report was docketed. The case of Dr. Woodrow was resumed and he spoke until 12:30, completing the presentation of his case.

Dr. Adams, of Augusta, occupied the remainder of the forenoon session and all of the afternoon session in argument of the case for the prosecution.

The church was well filled before the gavel of the moderator fell, so great is the interest manifested in the case of Dr. Woodrow. For some time after Dr. Woodrow began to speak he was interrupted by technical objections re-garding the record of the case. He then took up the record and explained his views of the up the record and explained his views of the phenomenon of science as not inconsistent with the Bible. He had no right to say that the Scriptures are contradicted by evolution. He insisted that the control of God is paramount and to which all must submit. Beyond that they should submit to no control. He had been charged with subordinating the Scriptures to science. That was untrue. He had never spoken or written a word which could bear any such construction. He never had never spoken or written a word which could bear any such construction. He never had taught a word that would throw doubt upon the headship of Adam, without regard to the manner in which, or of which, God formed his body. He quoted from his writings regarding the elevation of the higher and lower animal life. Had never said a word about apes and monkeys, as had so often been said. He believed Adam was a miraculous creation. He held all his word about apes and monkeys, as had so often been said. He believed Adam was a miraculous creation. He held all his beliefs to the teachings of the Holy Scriptures and to nothing else. So he holds his opinions as to the formation of Adam's body. Upon any subject of which the Scriptures is silent, he accepts national history as his guide, but only on such subjects. The church court, the general assembly, had nothing to do with his views outside the teachings of the Bible. All it has to do is to discover if his teachings conflict with the Scriptures. If they do not then the case must end.

The law of gravitation informs us that iron in water will sink, and yet the Bible said in one place that. "Iron did swim." That instance did not make the law of gravitation inconsistent with Scripture. He then quoted the Scripture as to the formation of the sun, moon and stars, and of the four corners of the earth. Did anyone suppose the earth to be a rectangular formation? It had been taught that the sun and moon moved around the earth, but science had done away with that idea, and it was no longer thought of. As to man, they were told that "out of the ground God formed every living thing," and further on it says "Adam shall return to dust, whence he came."

on it says "Adam shall return to dust, whence he came."

The serpent was condemned to eat dust. Was that inorganic dust? Certainly it was inorganic matter. Was any man prepared to say that Dr. Woodrow's views are attragonistic to the Bible? He did not think there could be. He queted from Paddington, Brown and others, their views of the dust of which man was formed, meaning the dust from one stage to another. Man came to have dominion over all other living creatures. He said that he did not believe that he would be condemned for rejecting ideas which were held two hundred years ago and which had no foundation in fact. It was once believed that lunacy was controlled by the moon. Must he believe it now because it was believed then? The assembly of Westminster taught that the sun moves. It would be unreasonable to expect that he will believe it because Westminster taught it. It made no difference whether the formation of Adam's body was mediate or immediate. He was made a living soul, and God made a covenant with him.

The presolvery of Augusta could not find soul, and Gcd made a covenant with him.

The presbytery of Augusta could not find conviction against the speaker's belief, for he had not antagonized the Bible. He had not taught that God had performed His works supernaturally. That will have to be determined by each individual mind. He believed that God formed man out of the dust of the ground, and yet he was charged with teaching contrary to the man out of the dust of the ground, and yet he was charged with teaching contrary to the Bible and standards, because he went beyond and believed what was not contained in them. or upon which they are silent. To sustain the synod of Georgia would be to condemn all who believe there may be some truth in evolution. It was a fact that the church had never failed in deciding on science to decide wrong.

It was a fact that the church had never failed in deciding on science to decide wrong.

Rev. Dr. Adams, of Augusta, prosecutor, then Ibegan his argument on the part of the synod of Georgia. He said it mattered little what were his motives in prosecuting this case before the presbytery of Augusta, as was spoken of by Dr. Woodrow yesterday. They had met face to face in the courts of the church, and never had Dr. Woodrow impugned the motives which prompted his prosecution. The speaker was of the complaint of heresy against Dr. Woodrow. In the committee in the presbytery and in the synod he had favored letting Dr. Woodrow alone to pursue his investigations, and then to say how he believed Adam's body was evolved. At that time he knew little of him, but supposed him to be a scientific man, who would work out his ideas and proclaim results. Now he didn't believe there was an idea in his address that was not obtained from some one he didn't believe there was an idea in his address that was not obtained from some one else. The synod of Georgia ordered the presbytery of Augusta to try him, or acquit him of horesy and error. The speaker was compelled to bring the case before the proper court. The complainant had declared that the sole object of the prosecution was to remove him from the professorship in the college. That could have been but an indirect result. The chair was a very sore point with him. He held the chair when the church cried out against him. Mr. Adams denounced the statement of Dr. Woodrow, that he was willing he should preach with his views if he would surrender his professorship as entirely opposite to what he did say, and called upon the assembly to judge between them. to judge between them.

The assembly here took arecess until After recess, Dr. Adams continued. He said he had no purpose to serve in the removal of Professor Woodrow; he had no axe to grind, not friends whom he wished to have the place. When he was before the synod of Georgia, he said that the advocate of these views must not be allowed to use them in the school of the church he had nothing to do with the views of Dr. Woodrow. But as a preacher he had no right to promulgate such views while under the shadow of the church. He then called attention to the issues before the court. Dr. Woodrow was charged with advancing views contrary to the standards of the church. The presbytery sustained him, and the synod annulled the action of the presbytery. The question to be determined is shall the synod be sustained. Dr. Woodrow denied, and his friends denied that he ever advocated evolution in school, but whether he taught them or not was immaterial. In his address to the alumni he taught it, and in his writings he taught it, and before this general assembly advocated and taught it. Much he said was not relevant to the case, and there was no need to deny it. The oniplainant complained that in the Bible he saw nothing contrary to the theory, that is that lew bodies After recess, Dr. Adams continued. He said are formed out of which all other things in vegetable and animal life were formed. We take what he says just as he states it to be his belief, and no one attributes to him deism, or a long time fish was the highest type, then they got frog, and frog was your ancestry. Then they got the reptiles, the lizards and alligators. Then followed the lower mamilian, which produced higher mamilia. He would not have called it monkey either, but they ent off his nails, flattened his hands and shaved him. Then divine miraculous intervention took place, and God put a soul into him and he became Adam. That is the theory of evolution. God did not interpose until all these changes had been passed. This is asserted, because the Bible does not contradict it, and because God's Word gives no testimony on the subject. This is the theory advanced by Woodrow. He believed that man was as a horse, born from an animal ancestry to the lower form, because, he said, the Bible did nut contradict it. The church was the conservator of truth, and it is now asked to engraft upon itself this theory. He would sacrifice everything to protect the church from misfortune. He had no doubt in replying to his remarks, charges will be running on the terms "may be," and probably are, which men used in advancing the theory of evolution, because the Scriptures are silent on the matter. He wanted to bring order out of confusion, so that the church will recurn to its concerd, and this matter be driven out forever. They were not to determine whether evolution is true or false. They were to determine on the creation of the body of Adam as understood by the not to determine whether evolution is true or false. They were to determine on the creation of the body of Adam as understood by the standards of the church. He says he goes to the works of God to find anything about the body of Adam, and his belief is not based on the word of God. If the church has put upon it a construction, he is bound to accost the construction, and conform his teaching to that construction, he is bound to accost the construction.

A recess was taken until 8 p. m.

The general assembly resumed business at eight o'clock p.m. Dr. Adams continued his statement in behalf of the synod of Georgia. After stating what the standards of the church teach on the creation of Adam's body, he said Woodrow had brought a sense with the standards which words do not justify, and until within a few years such a thing was never thought of. By their assertions, Adam existed before his creation, but not as Adam, for he was not Adam until God put a soul into him. Then he was a mule. That was a contradiction, and an Labsurdity. Dr. Woodrow has asserted his belief in every word of the Bible, and yet he does not believe that God made the body of man out of the dust of the ground, because its definiteness had disappeared. He also asserted that when God put a curse upon the serpent and said he should eat the dust, Adam was flesh and blood and hone, and after the fall of man was the same, and the speaker wondered if the serpent did not wink at the curse. He hoped this assembly will put its seal of condemnation upon all such ideas and relieve the church from such misfortune. He honored a man who adhered to his friends, of which Dr. Woodrow had many, but there might come a time in the history of man when they must adhere to God and the truth, even to the hurt of friends.

Judge Heiskell, on the perfect of Dr. Woodrow, next addressed the assembly. He had to the hurt of friends.

Judge Heiskell, on the part of Dr. Woodrow, next addressed the assembly. He had said twelve months ago, to Rev. Dr. Daniel, he thought that for the peace of the church it would be better to burn this man Woodrow at the stake or throw him into the sea. But he had since read the record and was himself responsible for his position in this case. He then read the indictment against Dr. Woodrow as to his togoliums in relation to the creathen read the indictment against Dr. Woodrow as to his teachings in relation to the creation of the body of Adam. The synod of Georgia neither convicted nor acquitted Woodrow. The presbytery of Augusta was on trial before the synod and that was not conviction. The charge was teaching and promulgating, and of that the presbytery acquitted him. It was his belief, and he was not tried for be lieving, and the action of the synod should be annulled or reversed because it was void, as there was no offense at all, and there could be no doubt that the action of the synod was erroneous, and did Dr. Woodrow and the presbytery both wrong. The only evidence was that Dr. Woodrow believed that Adam's body was probably produced by evolution from some was probably produced by evolution from some lower auimal. To believe a thing is probably lower animal. To believe a thing is probably true: that it is not true, is not contrary to Scripture, He had asserted his belief in everything in the Bible, but what was not in the Bible he had the right to his belief. The question to be determined was whether Dr. Woodrow's belief in evolution is in conflict with the Bible. He believed that Adam was created immediately from expans matter, and not immediately from expansions.

He believed that Adam was created immediately from organic matter, and not immediately out of the literal dust of the ground. Evolution is taught in many of the principal colleges of the country, and that theory is held by some of the most eminent divines of the church. Long before Darwin, Bishop Butler advanced the idea, and those who heard him, and who were familar with the views of that great man. Dr. Heiskill, made a strong argument in favor of evolution as entertained by Dr. Woodrow, which is not inconsistent with the standards of the church. The Bible says that God created the world in six days. Was it believed that these six days were of twenty-four hours each. There are many whobelieve that these six days were an indefinite time, and that belief is not contrary to the standards of the church. It behooved them, as wise men, to to move slowly. It might be that Dr. Woodrow is right and those opposed to him might be wrong. He would not say either was right or wrong, but one or the other may be wrong. Could they convict a man upon such a charge without making themselves laughing stock. He asked what interpretation the standards had put upon the words, "Dust of the ground." The standards simply quote the words of the Bible, but do not say what they mean. They do not say that such was organic or inorganic and they had no right to condemn a man for believing either way and Dr. Woodrow may wrongly interpret Scripture; so may we. He never knew Dr. Woodrow until he came here and he stood in defense of the church. He could not say whether he believes in Dr. Woodrow's theory or does not believe in it, because he was ignorant on the subject. He hoped the spirit of all truth will guide the determination of the assembly. He spoke of the wonders of science, and especially of the telegraph, by which immediate communication can be had across the sea, showing the progress of science not dreamed of a few years ago.

A greeting was received from the Cumberland Presbyterians, in session at Waco, Texas, which was referred. diately from organic matter, and not immediately out of the literal dust of the ground which was referred.

The assembly adjourned until 9 o'clock tomorrow morning, when the case of Dr. Woodrow will be resumed.

BALLOTING FOR BISHOPS. A Large Crowd Attends the General

since the twentieth general Methodist conterence, every seat in the vast auditorium of the Metropolitan opera house was filled today when Bishop Mallielen opened the session, the election of bishops being the business of the day. The question of electing a missionary bishop to India came up immediately after the reading of the journal. Dr. Flood made an earnest appeal for such bishoprie. Dr. Lanahan opposed it, and the result of Dr. Lanahan's opposition was that the matter was temporarily laid on the table.

Bishop Bowman then prayed, and especially in reference to the order of the day, and the election of bishops begun. Four selections of tellers, consisting of three each and one at large were announced by Bishop Andrews, and they took their places in the aisle. Before the actual voting began, much time was taken up in settling the question as to whether ballots containing less than the required number of names should be counted or thrown out. After much discussion it was decided to count them, and the voting began in earnest. The total number of votes cast on the first ballot was 447; number necessary for a choice was 248. Votes cast for the leading candidates were as follows: J. M. Vincent, 215; James N. Fitzgerald, 196; J. A. Goodsell, 188; J. P. Nowman, 156; J. W. Joyce, 145; Payne, 110; James N. King and Earl Cranston, 123 each; Kynet, 119: H. A. Butts, 115. There were twenty candidates who received less than 100 votes and over fifty who received but one vote each. The time in which to elect bishops was extended. A second ballot was taken and the conference then took a recess until 7 o'clock in the evening when the result of the count will be made known.

Neither of the two afternoon ballots had secured to any candidate enough votes, but on the third ballot at the evening session two bishops were elected.

Others were scattering. A fourth ballot was taken, but adjournment was taken before the count and the result will be announced tomorrow. While the third ballot was being taken a resolution was carried making the time limit five years.

With Colonel Fry is Colonel Pryor, of Lynchburg, who has been appointed chief engineer of the road. He will roach Atlanta Monday and start out with a corps of engineers immediately to locate the line, which will take in Fatouton, Sparta, Louisville, Waynesboro, Sylvania, Springfield, and thence to Savannah. In speaking of his successful work torticht. Colonel Fry said:

work tonight, Colonel Fry said:
"I think we have accomplished the biggest piece of work that has ever been done in the state of Georgia by any one. The charter for the road was drawn up by myself last June, introduced in the July session of the legislature by Captain Bray and brought to passage by Mr. Clark Howell. It pussed the senate and was approved by the governor on the 2.3d of December. In December 1 began a personal canvage for subscriptions to the action. sonal canvass for subscriptions to the stock along the line and obtained them to the amount of $250,000 to be paid in cash and option on valuable property worth another $250,00.00 ft April 21 left home expecting to sign a contract with the Western Con-Struction company, with headquarters at New York, to build and equip the road, but after two week's negotiations that matter could notibe agreed upon, I then took the enterprise on its merits to capitalists and succeeded in selling $3,000,000 of bonds at ninety-two cents on the dollar. The first installment on them has already been paid in cash and the balance is to be paid as the work pro-gresses, on the estimates of the chief engineer, ap-proved by the president. The Mercantile Trust company, of New York, has been selected as trustees for the boodholders and has accepted the trust. The bonds are now being eagraved by the New York Bank Note company and will be deliv-ered to the trust company by the 15th of July. Under my contract with the capitalists the road is Inder my contract with the capitalists the road is to be finished to Eatonton within twelve months from July 1st, 1885, and to be entirely completed to Savannah by July 1st, 1890."

In conclusion Mr. Fry said: "You can tell the people of Atlanta and of Georgia that the road will certainly be constructed and that work will be commenced at one."

THE BOYS AT NASHVILLE.

A Gorgeous Procession and Fine Mancuvers -Fine Maneuvers. NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 22.—The second day of the interstate military encampment was a great success. At 10:30 the soldiers, headed by the Louisville Legion, followed by the different infantry and artillery companies, begun their march through the densely crowded streets. All houses along the line were profusely decorated with flags and overgreens. The general appearance presented was very fine, and wheels were in most cases made with precision. By 1 o'clock ten thousand people had assembled at West Side park to witness the had assembled at west Side park to witness the opening of the competitive drill. The judges were Lieutenants P. Three Excursions Between Macon and Madson, Ga., May 22.—[Special.]—The city will be well filled with visitors tomorrow from Madison and places above Monticello, who will come on the first excursion from those places. A great crowd is expected, and both the Covington and Macon railroad and the city of Macon will be prepared to accommodate and entertain them. The excursion train has been fixed up, and is in good order. Mayor Price will appoint a committee of Aldermen and merchants to receive the visitors and show them about the city. They will leave for home about five in the afternoon.

But the event of the week will be on next Thursday, when a party of thirty couples will come down, chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. William A. Broughton. It will be known as the "Machen excursion," as it is given by him, and the invitations extended through his courtesy. Dinner has been engaged at the Hotel Lamer, and the afternoon will be occupied in driving around town. The schedule will be the same as the one the day before.

The negro, Willie Collins, charged with the murder of Mr. Sheffield near Irwington, last month, persuaded Jim Hammond, Silas Clay and others to help him in his attempt. They got a piece of steel from a shoe and fastened it to an old broom handle, which they used as a file to file one of the bars of the cage doors in two. There are two rows of cells in the cages, the doors of which are locked and unlocked from the outside by a set of complicated machinery. Their idea was to fix the doors so that they appeared locked from the outside, but were not fastened at all. When the jailer came in to feed them they would all make a rush on him and escape, and would no doubt have succeeded but for his timely discovery of their intentions. Assisted by Police Officers Goodroe, Mosely and Bailey, he made a search of their cells and found several shoe steels, but nothing of a more dangerous character.

A HUSBAND TOO MANY,

Which Caused the Rector to Hesitate.

A Strange Complication in a Savannah Ma riage Ceremony-Claims Against the Government-Other News.

SAVANNAH, May 22.—[Special.]—A question of law interrupted for awhile a night or two ago the happy progress of a marriage. Mr. Joha H. Sanford and Mrs. Susan Payer visited the residence of Rev. Thomas Boone armed with a license and requested to be united in due and legal form. When they made known the object of their visit the rector of Christ church hesitated. Mrs. Payer was not a widow. She had called on him for assistance in the past and he remembered that she had mentione that she was married to a man who had two other wives. When the blushing bride was re minded of this, she explained that the bigamis usband had deserted her, and she said that, of course, she was not legally bound to a man with three wives. Mr. Boone stated that he desired legal advice. The bride did not like this, and she knew something of the law on marriage and divorce. This was her third trial, her first husband having died trial, her first husband having died and her second having been a bigamist. Mr. Boone said Mr. Richards lives opposite, but objection was entered to laying her case before him. For a minute the bride was in a study, but she remembered that she had been befriended in times past by some kind ladies, members of that charitable organization, the King's Daughters, so she started off to get advice. The ladies she called on took a deep and immediate interest in the case. They suggested that she should visit a lawyer, and she called at the residence of Mr. George W. Owens. He was not at home. The bride's adviser's suggested that She seek counsel of Judge A. P. Adams, of the superior court, but he was not at home either. The dilemma did not sovie itself readily.

Back to the rector's residence went the bride

Back to the rector's residence went the bride and her lady friends. The latter thought that it would be perfectly legal for the marriage to take place. The rector was not so sure. The bride insisted that her marriage to a bigamist was not binding. Her lady friends naturally disliked the prospect of a disappointed bride, and they spoke in her favor.

After a little further debate, the couple were told to stand up. The legal question was put to them and being promptly and satisfactorily answered, the twain made one.

TO REDUCE THE SURPLUS.

Savannah will endeavor to reduce the surplus of the nation by two suits. George Mills and Henry Taylor have one claim. Mr. Mills was asked the nature of the damages. He stated that at the upper end of Hutchison's island the government has built dams across to throw a greater volume of water on the south side of the island. As a result the water on the south side of the island is higher than it used to be and the rice planters have had to drain their fields into the Black river. This was at considerable outlay, and the planters ask to be reembursed. A survey is first necessary. This will be made and the claims will no doubt be allowed.

The city's claim against the government for damaging the old quarantine station is an analogous case, and damages will be obtained after awhile for that.

POLITICS IN BURKE.

What the Local Politicians are Doing-A New Democratic Executive Committee. New Democratic Executive Committee.

WAYNESDORO, Ga., May 22.—[Special.]—
Burke county has selected a new democratic executive committee, composed almost entirely of young men. They met last Tuesday and decided to have primary elections at the various district precincts August 10th next, for nominees of the party as candidates for the legislature. This step gives entire satisfaction to all, and the wisdom of the young men in deciding upon this method is to be commended, as it will obviate, it is sincerely hoped, any disruption or the wisdom of the young men in deciding upon this method is to be commended, as it will obviate, if is sincerely hoped, any disruption or bolting in the party. No fairer method could be decided upon in getting a fair and honest expression of the party.

Mr. William Chandler has announced his candidacy. Mr. William H. Davis is put forward by the young men of the democracy as a probable candidate. Mr. Davis is the popular young principal of the Waynesboro acadeemy. Mr. C. T. Belt, a member of the last house, and Colonel Thomas M. Berrien, will be candidates also, no doubt, but they have made no public announcement. There is a decided sentiment for a ticket composed entirely of young men from the party ranks. It is almost impossible to get good men to run, as the race is always a hard and unpleasant one to the candidates. But few have announced as yet. There are many who are ambitious to serve their county, but they know the hardships of the contest. Our county is always slow to bring out candidates. They invariably wait until the election is close at hand. A good strong ticket is then selected, and the plan is to mysh them through with a and the plan is to push them through with

SCREVEN SUPERIOR COURT. The Judge Quite Severe on the Selling of Whisky. Whisky.

SYLVANIA, Ga., May 22.—[Special.]—Superior court convened here yesterday morning, Judge James K. Hines presiding with that distinguished ability that has ever marked his upward career. He charged the grand jury at some length and with considerable warmth. Upon the subject of whisky selling the judge dwelt eloquently for a while. He said he hoped the people would always keep whisky out of Screven county; that he himself could see the good effects of it, comparing the time when he good effects of it, comparing the time when he was solicitor on the circuit with the present condition of things; that there was more true statesmanship displayed in the passage of the bill abolishing whisky from Screven county than there would be in a hundred bills abolishing county courts or creating county commissioners.

ing county counts or creating county commissioners.

The following attorneys were present, besides the local bar: Solicitor-General Oscar H. Rogers, T. H. Potter, of Statesboro; E. O. Lovett, of Waynesboro; H. C. Kittes, of Rocky Ford, and S. G. Lawrence, of Anniston, Ala.

The case of T. A. Lanier vs. C. Parker, a suit for damages brought by the plaintiff against defendant for shooting him, was tried yesterday afterneon. The amount sued for was $5,000. The jury rendered a verdict giving. was $5,000. The jury rendered a verdict giving the plaintiff $400. The criminal docket, which is a full one, will be taken up tomorrow morning.

Chills and Fever in Hancock.

Chills and Fever in Hancock.

Sparta, Ga., May 22.—[Special.]—Chills and fever are prevailing here, but with that exception the people are enjoying a very healthy season. Dr. A. F. Durham, one of our most observant physicians, says that chills and fever visit a place or locality at certain regular periods in the form of epidemics. It has been seven years since they prevailed here. We are now in the midst of a wet spell, that has put the farmers somewhat behind with their crops, but their backwardness is principally due to the lateness of the season. As it is, a good deal of the corn has been worked over, and some cotton all over the county has been chopped out. One fact has been thoroughly proven by Hancock farming. However had may be the season, those farmers who do not make a specialty of cotton, but who raise something of everything, enough of each for his own use and some over to sell, always come out ahead at the end of the year.

Macon's New Hotel.

Macon's New Hotel.

Macon, Ga., May 22.—[Special.]—Macon is about to tackle something else big. She now wants a $200,000 hotel for the accommodation of northern tourists, and proposes that it be known as the Winter house. A meeting of citizens will be held at the Academy of Music on Wednesday night to discuss the manner of raising funds for its crection and locality. Several lots are being discussed, but the home of S. T. Coleman is the favorite place. It is the highest location in the city, and on a clear day three counties can be seen from the crest of the hill. Some want it to be built at old Liberty place, at the outer end of the dummy line, but this would be three miles out of town. But the hotel is going to be built, and something important may be looked for from Wednesday's meeting.

Laid to Rest. Macon, Ga., May 22.—[Special.]—The funeral of Mr. Ben Brantley, who was killed in the Southwestern switchyard yesterday, occurred from the Presbyterian church at 4:30 this aftermoon. The services were conducted by Rev. W. B. Jennings, and the diseased buried in Ross Hill cemetery.

COLUMBUS CONDENSED.

Exposition Officers Elected—The Central's New Bridge.

Columbus, Ga., May 22.—[Special.]—The stockholders of the Columbus Exposition company were in session several hours tonight for the purpose of organization. H. R. Goetchius was elected president, D. P. Dozier vice-president, and F. B. Gordon secretary and treasurer. The following directors were elected: J. K. Orr, G. Gumby Jordan, H. C. Hanson, T. M. Foley, D. P. Dozier, S. B. Hatcher, G. M. Williams, L. F. Garrard, H. R. Goetchius, J. S. Garrett, W. C. Bradley, B. Sternberg, L. A. Camp, E. H. Jenkins, J. M. Fletcher, J. H. Gabriel.

The grand jury today returned five true bills; no other business of importance was transacted by the court.

Work on the Central's iron bridge across the riverat this place is getting well under way. The stone for the plers, mammoth pieces from Stone Mountain, together with the iron bridge, has arrived and has been u coaded on the Columbus side of the river. The construction of this bridge is a very tedious and expensive undertaking.

A Route Agent Resigns ELBERTON, Ga., May 22.—[Special.]—Mr. James D. Prather, who for nine years has been route agent on the Elberton Air-Line railroad, has been offered promotion in the service. Some time ago Mr. Prather expressed his intention of retiring from this work, and gave as his reason that the death of his father and the large pusiness interests of the estate falling on large business interests of the estate falling on him demanded his attention. He is yet undehim demanded his attention. He is yet unde-cided whether he will accept promotion. El-berton is sorry to give up Jim Prather. He was not only a courteous and faithful officer, but a true man in every relation of life. Earn-est, warm-hearted and brave, his friends here include the whole population. Wherever Jim Prather goes the good wishes of the people of Elberton follow him. It is understood that Lindsay Harper will succeed him.

A QUEER BEDFELLOW.

The Startling Nocturnal Discovery Made By

a Sojourner in Texas. I am encamped in the deep forests on the carboniferous bills of Young county, says a Texas letter in Forest and Stream. My temporary shelter is a small cabin of a single room full of cracks ough which things can creep. This morning ar through which things can creep. This morning an hour before dawn a heavy storm descended upon us, and the air grew quite chilly. While lying in my comfortable little bed listening to the howling of the wind and pouring of the rain, I felt a strange movement in the bed. It was not the movement of an earthquake, or of a whale, or of an elephant yet I-immediately recognized it as a movement of a very moving nature—one that might involve tervery moving nature-one that might involve ter rible consequences. I felt it again, and it was no only in bed, but under the cover with me. Just at this juncture I felt something very slick and of a somewhat cold nature move against my hand. The time for action evidently had come, and I did not time for action evidently had come, and I did not deliberate what action to perform, but performed at once. With one fell bound I vacated that bed and landed in the middle of the flour with such a thump that the cabin shook all over. In a moment my lamp was burning, and seizing a club I approached the bed and cautiously pulled down the cover. There hay a snake, beautifully coiled up, with his head somewhat uplifted, licking out his tongue at me. He was about four feet long. He looked at me and I looked at him. He made no motion as if he would run and neither did I. I thought I spied a gentle and confiding expression in his eye, as if he said: "You need not be alarmed; if you will not he said: "You need not be alarmed; if you will not hurt me neither will I hurt you. If you will be my friend I will be yours." I threw my club aside. I perceived that my bed-fellow was a bullsnake, almost precisely like the rattlesnake in markings, but in no other respect like that monster, He is without faugs, without poison, and of a gentle, playful, and amiable nature, He grows eight or nine feet long. I said unto him that he and I should be friends; than he might not only dwell with me in my cabin, but that if he liked he could sleep with me in my bed. Having said that much I carefully spread the cover over him and told him e said: "You need not be alarmed; if you will no

I carefully spread the cover over him and told him to sleep on. And he did so. But I did not go back to bed to him. I sat by my table and read a few chapters of St. Paul, who, of all authors, is my fa-vorite. How logical, how forcible, how grand and ennobling he is! On returning from breakfast I brought one of my fellow-workmen with me to show him my friend and bed-fellow. When I drew back the cover there he lay, perfectly quiet and content, but licking out his tongue. My fellow-workman was dumb founded. I then put the cover back again. A few moments ago my snake descended from the bed, in a quiet way, as if entirely athome, and is still probably somewhere in the house. He was probably engaged in hunting mice when the storm came up, and be coming chilled in the changed atmosphere he four my bed plea aut and concluded to sleep with me.

A Cowboy Tournament. From the New Orleans Picayune.

Among the exercises of the recent gala week at the capital of Texas was an exhibition that car only be seen in the Spanish-American countries or in the states and territories of the American union, that were once parts of the Spanish-American domain. This was a tournament by cowboys, or vaqueros, at lassoing wild cattle. These men were required to ride on horseback into an inclosure where were a number of such beasts, and with the lasso each in turn tried his skill in "roping" an anithe lasso and thrown down and tied as if for brand ing, and the victor was to be the man who could execute the work in the shortest possible time. Twenty vaqueros entered for the contest, the win ner accomplishing the feat required in forty-seven seconds. The longest time consumed by any of the contestants was two minutes nine and three-quarter seconds. The sport was not, perhaps, as dangerous as bull fighting, but it was not without its risks. with men mounted and dashing at a wild gallo course of the exercises two of the cattle were killed outright and three badly burt. The sport was witnessed by a vast crowd.

BABY'S SKIN AND SCALP Cleansed. Purified and Beautified by Cuticura Remedies.

Our oldest child, now six years of age, when an infant six months old was attacked with a virulent, malignant skin disease. All ordinary remedies failing, we called our family physician, who attempted to cure it; but it spread with almost incredible rapidity, until the lower portion of the little fellow's person, from the middle of his back down to his knee, was one solid rash, ugly, painful, blotched and malicious. We had no rest at alight, no peace by day. Finally, we were advised to try the CUTICURA REMEDIES. The effect was simply marvellous. In three or four weeks a complete cure was wrough! leaving the little fellow's person as white and healthy as though he had never been attacked. In my opinion your walt able remedies saved his life, and today he is a strong, healthy child, perfectly well, no repetition of the diseased having ever occurred. GEO. B. SMITH, CLEAR SKIN, PURE BLOOD. No mother, who loves her children, who takes pride in their beauty, purity and health, and in bestowing upon them a child's greatest inheritance—a skin without a blemish, and a body nourished by pure blood—should fail to make trial of the CUTICURA REMEDIES.

I have seen the CUTICURA REMEDIES used for milk crust by a visitor in my house, and can testify that the cure was speedy and permanent. I have also used them myself, for cruptions of the skin on my little child, with satisfactory results in every respect. The skin was broken out and began to assume ugly proportions. I have also heard my neighbors speak of the CUTICURA REMEDIES in the highest terms.

STATE OF GEORGIA, FULTON COUNTL—TO the Superior Court of said County: The petition of J. M. Stephens, W. T. Gentry, W. J. Bagby, F. A. Gentry and H. E. W. Paimer, all of said county, shows that they desire for themselves, their associates, successors and assigns to be duly incorporated under the laws of Georgia for the term of twenty years, with the right of renewal, under the corporation name of "American District Messenger and Electrical Supply Company," with all of the powers common to private corporations and particularity those set forth in Section 1679 of the Code of said State [1882.]

common: to private corporations and particularly those set forth in Section 1579 of the Code of said State [1882]

The object of said corporation is pecuniary profit to its stockholders, and the particular business to be carried on by it will be to furnish measurgers or vehicles, either or both, to convey measures or parkages to and from any point or points and charge for same, to furnish electrical call boxes or similar devices to be us d by its subscribers, to buy and sell all kinds of electrical supplies, to build or equip any line or lines for the transmission of electrical devices, and to make any contracts for doing electric work. The principal office of said company, and the place where it will transact its said tusiness, will be in the city of Atlanta, said County and State, but it expressly desfres the right to have offices elsewhere, and to transact its said tusiness. at any place or places without said County and State.

The capital stock of said Company will be ($10.00) ten thousand dollars, divided into shares of the par value of (160) one hundred dollars each, of which (10) ten per cent will be paid in before said Company commences business. The said Coepany desires power through its directors to increase said capital stock, from time to time, to any amount not exceeding ($9,00) fifty thousand do lars, and that any of the capital stock may be paid for in property or services, as may be determined by said Board.

Said Company desires power to make any and all contracts for successfully carrying out the object of its incorporation. Wherefore the petitioners pray that this petition may be duly lied, recorded and published as required by law, and that then an order may be granted incorporation them as herein prayed for.

Blandiord, J.—Where the name of a person appeared as duly signed to a submission to arbitration, though he did not in fact sign it, or authorize his name to be subscribed thereto, yet if he were present when the arbitration was had and the award was made, testified as a witness before the arbitrators and knew that his rights were involved, making no objection to the arbitration at the time he is estopped from denying that he is bound by the award.

(a) The court below seems to have ignored this question, and the jury were not charged upon it. The plaintiff was bound by the award, and the verdict, being contrary to the award (which is not attacked), is without evidence to support it.

Keller vs. Beaty. Complaint, from Spalding. Promisary notes. Contracts, Noration. Before Judge Boynton.

Blandford, J.—Where John Keller bought from Beaty, certain land, and some years there, after it was agreed by all parties that William Keller might take the place of John, assume the indebtedness of John and become the debtor of Beaty, and William thereupon executed his noie to Beaty for the land, it was not a good defense to a suit by Beaty upon the note, that while John Keller was the debtor Beaty had sold wood from the land to the amount of $350, and had also received cotton therefrom to the value of $100, as payments on this indebtedness, and that the vote, for this reason, was usurious. The undertaking by William Keller, and the giving of his note therefor was a noration anct'he state of the accounts between John Keller and Beaty, at that time, made no difference so far as William was concerned.

Blandford, J.—1. As a general rule, a party

Blandford, J.—1. As a general rule, a party must pursue his legal remedies to their available extent before he can go into equity for relief, but this rule is not without exceptions. Where a creditor shows that his rights are in peril; that he has sold goods to a defendant upon the faith of the latter's representations, which were false and fraudulent; that he rescinded the contract and claimed the goods as his own, and that defendant had given a mortgage on the goods to a person residing in another state, which was claimed to be fraudulent, which had been foreclosed, and under which the goods were about to be sold; a case for equitable interference is sufficiently made out. Cohen & Co. vs. Morris & Co., 70 Ga., 319; Johnson & Co. vs. O'Donnell & Burke, 75 Ga., 456; Orton et al. vs. Madden et al., 75 Ga., 83.

2. In a case of this kind, the chancellor may look to the whole case, its general countenance and bearing, and after considering the case as presented by the pleadings and proofs submitted, should, if he believe the ends of justice require it, put his hands upon the property in veretice and bear in property in veretice and bear in the state good until a jury mitted, should, if he believe the ends of justice require it, put his hands upon the property in vuestion and keep it in statu quo until a jury can pass upon the case. Wachtel vs. Wilde, Jr. & Co., 58 Ga. 50; Albany and Rensellaer Iron and Steel Co. vs. Southern Agricultural Works, 76 Ga. 169.

(a.) In this case, a wise discretion was exercised, and the rights of the defendants guarded by requiring bend of complainants before appointing a receiver.

Simmons, J.—l. Where injunction was granted against a railroad company to prevent the laying of its track upon certain land, subject to be dissolved by the payment of an award of damages which had been made to the land owner, and the railroad company brought the case to this court, this court has the right to hear and consider evidence of an accord and satisfaction, or settlement of the case, outside of the record transmitted from the court below, and it being satisfactorily shown that since the case was brought here, the injunction has been dissolved by the company's paying the money, found by the award, in full; and that the railroad has been constructed and is being operated over the land, the case will be dismissed. (a) If the appeal from the award, taken by the railroad company, should be tried in the court below and the jury should find a less sum for damages against the company than was given by the award, perhaps it could recover the excess paid to the land owner.

Maddox et al vs. Cole. Complaint, from Spalding. Practice. Re-opening cases. Dili-gence. Before Judge Boynton. Simmons. J.—J. There is sufficient evidence to sustain the verdict, and it is not contrary to

This discretion is not abused the court as the co whether the case may be re-opened for new testimony. This discretion is not abused where by the exercise of proper diligence, the witness whose introduction is refused could have been brought to court in time, at least could have been reached with a subpena, and if he failed to appear, a -motion could have been made to continue the case because of his absence.

not preside in this case, because of indisposition.]
Simmons, J.—I. The bill alleges unjust discrimination-against the colored people of Eatouton by the provisions of an act of October 24, 1887, as to raising and distributing a certain school fund, and that therefore the act is unconstitutional; but the bill is filed by a white tax payer and citizen, and alleges that under the act an election had been held and it had been determined that bonds should be issued; that the trustees of the white and colored schools had agreed in writing as to the proportion to be received by each school, and that the amount agreed to be received by the colored school from the sale of the bonds, did not, and under the act could not, exceed the prorata of taxes paid into the treasury by the colored people; that defendants were advertising the bonds to be sold, and the bill prayed that defendants be enjoined from selling, or offering to sell the bonds. It appears that the colored people are satisfied; that they expressly agree to the division and the proportion of the bonds they are to receive, regardless of the proviso to the act as to what proportion should be allotted them; and it does not appear that complainant is or will be hurt by the action he seeks to prevent. It follows that he cannot maintain the bill. Cooley's Con. Lim., 5 Ed. 197; Marshall vs. Donovan, 10 Bush.; Sinclair vs. Jackson, 8 Cowen; Smith vs. McCarty, 56 Pa. St.; Autoni vs. Wright, 22 Gratt, 857.

2. Even if complainant had a right to file the bill, this court is not prepared to hold that injunction should have been granted, or that the act is unconstitutional.

Judgment affirmed.

A Queer Editorial. There seems to be some trouble or some thing with the democratic Post of Washington, D. C. The Post is printed and edited under the shadow of the white house, and is supposed to be edited and printed in behalf of the renomination and re-election of Mr. Cleveland. But the Post, edited by Stillson Hutchins and his progeny, proceeds in a mysterious way its wonders to perform.

Recently the Post has been boasting that Mr. Cleveland had been using his power to whip democrats into line with Statesman Mills and his tariff bill, and it has been advising the president to use the machinery at his command for all it is worth. Now we find in the editorial columns of the Post the following remarkable statement:

When Napoleon I. concluded to become emperor of the French, he crowned himself. It was an interesting scene. The cathedral of Notre Dame was of the French, ne crowned and of Notre Dame was thronged with the greatest men and women in the world. There were kings and queens, princes, generals, statemen and scholars galore, all assembled to grace the triumph of the conqueror. First in place stood the pope of Rome. He LAI come to

When the critical moment arrived, however,
Napoleon took the imperial crown and crowned himself. Pope Pius was but a spectator.

Mr. Grover Cleveland has summoned a national democratic convention to renominate him for the presidency of the United States, and 820 delegates mble to do his bidding. But they will illy have nothing to do. When the time come to vote it will be apparent to the veriest tyro among them that President Cleveland has already renomi-nated himself. He is a man of destiny and he will do as men of destiny do. The democratic nomi-nation is his by right of conquest, and he will not condescend to receive it from any hands but his

Well. let it be so. This is a self-made country. and it is natural that it should fall down before self-made man. But was there ever so thoroughly self-made a man as Grover Cleveland I.? We think

If the Post is really supporting Mr. Cleveland it is really a very curious support. We might expect to find the foregoing in the columns of the Philadelphia Press, which is a lively and humorous republican journal, but when a democratic paper declares that Mr. Cleveland "has summoned a national democratic convention to renominate him for the presidency of the United States, and 820 delegates will assemble to do his bidding," we suspect that there is a very large cat in the meal tub. We suspect indeed, that the Post, which has been credited with being the organ of President Cleveland, is really trying to stab him in the back.

The Post goes on: "But they (the delecates) will really have nothing to do. When the time comes to vote, it will be apparent to the veriest tyro among them that President Cleveland has already renominated himself." Coming from an organ of the administration, this is very queer language indeed. Just what it means, just what it is intended to mean, we do not know; but it is all very queer. We leave our readers to wrestle with the problem.

An attempt is making to vote the Pennsylvania delegation as a unit for John Sherman. If the delegation votes as a unit its vote will be for Blaine.

Some Results of the War.

A republican writer, speaking of our great war between the states, pronounces it most important conflict, measured by its influences upon mankind, that has occurred since the fall of Napoleon. He says that it was followed by the reconstruction of Germany, the abolition of Russian serfdom and slavery in Brazil, the establishment of the French republic, the Europeanizing of Japan, the formation of the Dominion of Canada, the success of Cuba in obtaining representation, the modernization of Turkey, the formation of a complete Italian nation, and by many other things.

This immense view of the situation enough to take one's breath away. It makes very little difference whether it is correct or not. War is undoubtedly great civilizer, and it cannot be denied that the outcome of the struggle between the north and the south has in the main been beneficial to the world at large.

What interests us, however, is the effect of the war upon the south. Summed up crudely, it may be said that the new order of things has brought us cotton mills, blast furnaces, railroads, scores of new industries, diversified farming, a bigger population and a better status in the eyes of the world, without depriving our people of a single eight held dear by American freemen.

Under the old system the south would have always remained an agricultural country. Under the new she will have her manufacturing centers, her large cities, and the development of her natural resources. These are some of the results of the war in which we are most interested. If speculative writers choose to picture a series of more or less imaginary results in other quarters of the world there is no objection. But our people are too busy just now to engage in the discussion of matters so far away. It is enough for us to know that the war was a blessing in disguise. WE observe that some of our esteemed contemporaries are engaged in a terrific scramble to see which can make the most explanations about the unseasonable slaughter of the Hon. Patrick Walsh. Our esteemed contemporaries should try to keep cool. The time has arrived when harmony is more desirable than unnecessary explana-

A Constant Danger and Menace. Yesterday two men were killed within the city limits of Atlanta by railroad trains. This is unusual, but not surprising. Day after day men are killed in the city limits by trains. So frequent has the slaughter me that it scarcely causes comment. It is only when two persons are killed in different sections of the city in one day, that the subject is discussed.

The truth is our whole system of railroad tracks is wrong. The city is cut up with open tracks over which trains are constantly moving at various rates of speed. Even our most prominent thoroughfares are bisected with open tracks, and a hundred times a day the busy current of pedestrians is blocked and held at bay while interminable trains-often freight trains-are shifted

There is no city in the United States that would stand this as long as Atlanta has stood it. It is constant danger and menace to our people, and standing damage to our property. It is time at last for Atlanta to put a stop to it.

Our system starts wrong. The union depot is illy-placed and insufficient. A new and commodious depot should be built, somewhat removed from the immediate center of the city, and no railroad should be allowed to pass a street-crossing at grade. Bridges should be built or tunnels sunk so that the crossings would be clear to pedestrians and vehicles. We have submitted to the outrages the railroads put on us too long already. It is about time to move in selfdefense. The two men killed on yesterday, in different sections of the city, make a very good starting point for a reform!

THERE is great anxiety on the part of some people to know the name of the republican dark Charley horse.

Dr. Woodrow's Side of His Case. The Rev. Dr. Woodrow, whose famous case is now before the southern Presbyterian general assembly, has recently given an outline of the matters involved, speaking of course from his standpoint.

Dr. Woodrow says that when he heard the soundness of his belief impugned in 1885 he asked the presbytery of Augusta to investigate the charges. A committee reported that there was no heresy in his doctrines and belief. A resolution to this effect was lost in the presbytery by a vote of seven to six. The doctor then asked the presbytery to try him, but this was not done. He then complained to the synod of Georgia, and an order was issued that the presbytery should investigate his evolution theories The trial created great interest but the charge of heresy was not sustained. The matter again came before the synod, and it was decided that the finding of the presbytery was contrary to the law and the evidence. Dr. Woodrow then complained to the general assembly. There is also another evolution case against the doctor which resulted in the loss of his professorship. The general assembly has nothing to do with this matter, as it is already finally settled.

From Dr. Woodrow's statement it will be seen that the issue in the pending case is narrowed down to one point, viz: Is it neresy in the Presbyterian church to believe in the doctrines of evolution? The result of the trial will be awaited with interest by the Christian and scientific world.

THE Philadelphia Press says that "harnony is not on tap in the democratic party." Does the Press base this opinion on the fact a profuse perspiration is flowing from the wide open pores of the leaders who slaughtered the Hon. Patrick Walsh in Georgia the other day? If it does, it is wrong. There is plenty of harmony on tap here and some to spare.

The Mugwump Vote.

The mugwump vote, which played such an important part in the presidential election of 1884, has spoken through its oracle, Mr. George William Curtis.

Mr. Curtis has been interviewed at length on the subject, and says that President Cleveland can count on a larger mugwump vote this year than he received four years ago. He is thoroughly satisfied in the main with the course of the president, and will give him his earnest support in the coming campaign.

Whatever may be said of the mugwump vote, there is no doubt but that it is quite a consideration to a candidate who receives it. and for this reason we are glad to know that the democracy is again assured of its co-operation. Without the mugwump vote Mr. Cleveland would not now be president. and as the mugwumps figure more conspicuously in the states of New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, and in that neighborhood, than elsewhere, we are particularly glad to know at this time that we can again count on them, whatever their strength may be, for in these three states are to be fought the decisive battles of the campaign. It is very encouraging therefore to receive as surance of this support, for it may be that on it will depend the success of the democracy in the coming campaign.

Mr. Curtis is of the opinion that Mr. Blaine will again be the nominee of the republican party, and that he did not intend his declination to be conclusive. He believes that if Mr. Blaine is nominated the majority against him will be much more decisive than that of 1884. In such an event Mr. Curtis thinks that the republican party will disintegrate and reorganize. He looks upon Judge Gresham as the most formidable candidate whom the republicans can nominate, but does not think that even his nomination would interfere with the united support which the mugwumps will give Mr. Cleveland. Mr. Curtis seems to have left the republican party, and as he was for many years one of the most distinguished leaders of that party, his views on questions pertaining to it are entitled to particular consideration. He held the same position in 1884 that he holds now, and his confidence in the re-election of President Cleveland is certainly more assuring now than it was then.

WE desire to call the attention of those of our esteemed contemporaries who are filling the air with explanations that the Hon. Patrick Walsh is not making any fuss. He has accepted the slaughter house decree in good faith, and is a better democrat today (as he has always been) than some of those who ran over him with a political mowing machine. Keep cool, esteemed contempo raries, keep cool.

The South and International Copyright. The remarks made by Senators Beck and Vance on the subject of international copyright, when the Chace bill was up for discussion, show that these gentlemen are much more familiar with the somewhat scurvy politics of our day than they are with the principles that underlie the relations that governments bear to individuals, and that individuals bear to each other.

A more hapeless display of ignorance and prejudice than that made by these two southern senators could scarcely be con-ceived of. They not only spoke against the property rights of foreign authors in this country, and against the property rights of American authors in this country, but Mr. Vance proposed as an amendment to the bill that "newspapers, magazines and peri-odicals" be excluded from obtaining copyright at all.

The result of such a provision, as a mat ter of course, would be to destroy our leading magazines. Seventeen senators, as careless of property rights as Senator Vance, and possibly as ignorant, voted for this amendment, and this in the face of the fact that every American author of any prominence has been helped to his popularity by the editors of the magazines. Destroy these periodicals by taking away the coypright on the articles they print, and a young writer would have absolutely no market for his productions.

We have a case in point. One of these magazines held technical copyright on several short stories contributed to its pages by southern writer. When this writer collected his stories in book form and printed them in this country, the book was pounced on by a British firm. The magazine proprietors, having no interest whatever in the matter, instructed its London agent to claim copyright, and the result was that the southern author was enabled to collect a good round sum out of the would-be pirates. We are very sorry that the south could not have been represented in the discussion of the Chace bill by a man who stood for its culture and literary taste.

Forn Mapeney whose recent spicide in New York shocked the public, was one of the most popular and successful playwrights in the country. His "Bob," "Zip," "Cheek," "Humbug," "Kerry Gow," "Shaun Rhue," and a number of other comedies on the same order were immensely popular, and from them he received an annual income of over $10,000. The circumstances surrounding his death make a realistic and dreadful drama. He suicided on account of the wild conduct of his daughter, who was a beautiful young lady and whose steps had been turned out of the path of righteousness. Her actions broke her father's heart and wrecked her mother's mind. She was reared in luxury, and was idolized by her parents. The poor dramatist could not survive the shock, and micided in his room in New York by shutting t up tightly and turning on the gas. While the work of asphyxiation was going on he wrot several letters relating the reasons which induced him to take the dreadful step.

HENRY CLAY LUKENS, a well known New York newspaper man, has gone to Charleston take a position on the World. This is a singular change of base.

THE CENTER OF population has steadily moved southward, except during the war and between 1830 and 1840. In point of fact the south is increasing more rapidly in population than the north, when foreign immigrants are left out of the calculation. The last census shows that the southern states are adding 650, 000 children to their population each year against only 798,000 in the north, with nearly twice the population.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Porterhouse Steaks. EDITORS CONSTITUTION: Where did the name porterhouse steak originate? A. G. G.
In New York, where fifty or more years ago, there were established a number of so-called "porter houses"—places where porter and ale were sold The tradition is that a beef steak was called for at a butcher's shop, and, none being on hand, a cut from a roasting piece, about to be sent to a porterhouse, was given the customer. It proved so perior to the ordinary steak that when he cal'ed next he asked for porterhouse steak, so the cut be-came choice and the name popular. Nor was it many years before the American invention had crossed the seas and became known under the same name in England.

"Gimme dat club! Gimme de longes' bat ron'se got, till I hop on dat maskit's neck !"

play a good uphill game, and their victory was de-served.

Savannah's pitcher, Butler, deserves the first men-tion for his excellent work in every respect. Turner did better work, but Butler had to face the strongest batters, and the way he did pitch was a caution. With two men on bases in several lumings he polled himself tygether and the Atlantas couldn't score. Green caught him in excellent shape. Butler fields his position beauti-fully, assis ing the first four times and catching two difficult foul files in yesterday's game.

Shreek played a good first, Burke cove 41 short in good style, and Monahan was strong at second. La-motte led the batting for Savannah with a single and a double.

For Atlanta Turner pitched a beautiful game.

How it was done.

How it was done.

The Atlantas started in at a winning gait which made the audience happy. Green led off with a pretty single and scored on Key's double. Lilly hit to pitcher and was thrown out at first, and then Lawshe hit to right for two bases, Key scoring. Lawshe stole third but was left there by Beach striking out and Craig hitting to pitche.

Atlanta did not score again during the game, although they came mightly near it once or twice. In the third, after one man was out, Key hit a corker to left field for a base. Demerse let it go between his legs and "Pap" got to third. But he got no further, as Lilly struck out and I awshe couldn't get it past pitcher. After two more were out in the sixth, Lawshe hit for two bases and stole third, but he was again doomed to disappointment as Beach's out left him there.

Turner led off with a hit in the eighth and got to there.

It was not so much Savannah's hitting or Atlantas bad playing that let the Sea Gulls score their first two runs—it was hard luck. It was in the third inning. Demerse led off with a hit. As he ran to second he passed in front of Green in such a way as to blind him, and instead of catching the ball which Beach threw to him, he received it right in the mouth. The blow was a very severe one and for a time it looked as if Green would not be able to finish the game, but he did and, barring his wide throw of the next ball which came to him, played a perfect game. Hum hit a line fly to left, which Craig got after a pretty running catch. Then Batler hit to Green, who threw a little wide to first. Lilly was compelled to step off the Lase in order to get the ball, but he touched Butler as he came down the line. To the surprise of almost everybody, Umpire Loceller called Butler not out. Then a howl went up, and little Demerse quietly seaked home, scoring the first run for Savannah. Butler ran to second and then to the third, scoring on Green's hit to the pitcher.

then to the third, scoring on Green's hit to the pitcher.

Neither run was earned, and the first was certainly due to the umpire's mistake. Mr. Loefer has shown himself a capable and efficient umpire, and his mistake, though a disastrous one, was simply an error in judgment.

In the fourth Lawshe, Green and Lilly go. in a a pretty double play. In the fifth, Shreek, the first batter, got his base on Key's wide throw but was left.

In the sixth Burke hit to right centre for a base, and tried to take second, but was put out by Mathews' good throw to Lawshe.

The ninth settled the game. After Lawshe had thrown Burke out, Lamotte hit for two bases. Monahan hit to Key, who fumbled the ball. Brown hit a foul fly, which Lilly captured. There were two men on bases and two out. Shreek bunted a little easy one down the third base line, which Key couldn't get to first in time, and Lamotte had scored the winning run.

And so will Atlanta get there yet.
The game at Athletic park yesterday was one of the finest specimens of ball playing ever seen in Atlanta. From the time that "play" was called until Savannah made the winning run in the last half of the ninth inning the two nines were "neck and neck," and both played ball far all there is in it. One brilliant play followed another in almost every inning, and there were many pretty pieces of work by both sides. It certainly wasa "star" game, and Captain Bob Lowry was right when he said it deserved an audience of fire thousand people.

The nines are very closely matched. Both are made up of excellent material and they play just as good ball as the most veteran professionals. There never was anywhere a better game than that of yesterday, and the people who missed it missed a rate treet.

motte led the batting for Savannah with a single and a double.

For Atlanta Turner pitched a beautiful game. While he did not strike out nearly as many men as Butler, he held Savannah down to five hits. Beach caught him in perfect style. Green played a great game at second, and Lilly was as usual a tower of strength at first. Lawshe covered short in fine style, making a number of fine stops and throws and catching two high files in short left field in a way that brought forth a torm of applause. Craig made a star catch in left, and "Reddy" had a put out and an assist in middle field. Key was rather unfortunate in his fielding, one of his errors contributing toward bringing in the run which won the game for Savannah.

Lawshe led at the bat for Atlanta with two loubles. Key got a single and a double.

Key surprised everybody, striking out, and Lilly again hitting to pitcher. After two mea were out in the ninth Critis got a single and stole second and third. Frank Lilly struck out and left him there were the control of the structure of here.

POLICE POINTERS.

One of the cases tried in recorder's court One of the cases tree in recorder's court yesterday afternoon was that of James Bailinger, an old one-legged darky. He was charged with disor-lerly conduct, and the evidence developed something like a case of wife-beating. The old couple had been married thirty-eight years. Judge Anderson fined him $12.75, tremarking by way of explanation for the leniency:

"I suppose the old man has been at it so long he sorter thinks he has a right to beat his wife."

L. Walpsheimer was fined $10.75 for having tainted meat at his butcher shop on Whitehall street. The beef had been killed by accident one evening and skinned next merning. There was no evidence that any of the meat was sold, or was intended to be sold, but the offense was clearly a violation of the city ordinance, so the butcher was fined. Late last night a case for assault with intent to murder was entered against a negro named Richard Irwin. He struck a negro in the head with a piece of iron pipe, and at 10 o'clock last night the negro's condition was critical. The skull had been fractured for three or four inches, and it was feared that concussion of the brain would follow. Alf. Prater's negro—the one he chased down and brought to police headquarters—was turned loose by the recorder yesterday.

Yesterday was another busy day at polico headquarters. Captain Couch said yesterday: "I think the eight hour system is responsible for the heavy work done. There are nearly twice as many cases made on an average now as were made under the old system."

President Cleveland Asked for a Requisition for Adam Moss.

Who is Wanted in Georgia for Assault With Intent to Murder Conductor Barbee-Arrested at Toronto.

Yesterday, in the executive department, ap-plication was made to the president of the United States for a requisition, under the ex-United States for a requisition, and the tradition treaty between the United States and Great Britian, for Adam Moss, charged with the offense of assault with intent to murder the offense of assault with intent to murder in Chatham county, and who is now in Canada. On the 14th of December, 1887, Mess made a brutal assault upon Alexander Barbee a conductor on the Central road. The assault was made on a passenger train. Moss was arrested and placed under load in Chatham counts superiors on the bond in Chatham county superior court. The grand jury found a true bill against him for assault with intent to murder. Moss afters wards jumped his bond and went to New York. Wastes jumped his bondsmen located him at Buffalo, N. Y., and applied for a requisition on the governor of New York—but Moss got wind of it, and escaped before he could be arrested. When last heard of he was in Toronto, where he was placed under arrest. The fifteen days, the length of time which he can be held under the law, will be out today.

Detective Weatherspoon left last Sunday for Toronto, with the evidence of the crime and the proper papers, and will probably return ith his man. When Moss was arrested in Toronto, he gave out that he struck Conductor Barbee with a stick because he treated his son with great cruelty. Moss stated that while the conductor was passing through the car, he caught hold of his son's check with his punch and pinched it severely, and that he resented this utrage by striking the conductor. Moss stated further that for this defense of his son, the southern slaveholders were hounding him down, and wanted to get him back to Georgia to punish him. Upon this a society at Toronto for the protection of fugi-tives from the United States promptly raised a purse and will vigorously oppose the extra-dition of Moss. The movements of Detective Wetherspoon will be watched with interest. The probability is that unless some inform-ality is discovered in the papers he will bring Moss back without trouble.

Over Which the People are Racking Their Brains—Some Answers.

The people seem to be racking their brains over the different problems which have recently appeared in The Constitution.

The "hen" problem is a great favorite, and continues to draw a variety of answers. One or two suggestive ones are given here.

DEATH TO THE HEN.

If 1 hen and ½ lay 1 erg and ½ in 1 day and ½ of a hen will lay ½ of an erg in ½ day, and 1 hen will lay 1 erg in ½ day. Therefore, 6 hens in ½ day will lay 6 ergs, and in 14 half alws, 7 days, they will lay 34 ergs. Good for ergs, but death to the hen.

EDITORS CONSTITUTION: Having been told of your hen problem in Sunday's issue, I have set about to work it. The proposition being stated follows: "If I hen and a ½ lay I egg and a ½ in I day and ½ how many many eggs will 6 hens lay in 7 days." let us first reduce the matter to unity; if 3 ½ sof a hen lay ½ of an egg in 3 ½ so f a day then will ½ of a hen lay ½ of an egg in 3 ½ so f a day; now that being so 2 ½ so f a hen or I whole hen will lay 2 ½ of an egg or I whole egg in 3 ½ so f a day. The next question is what part of 1 egg will I hen lay in I dy which will be obtained by dividing I egg or 2 ½ so of an egg in I day, six hens in I day will lay 6 times ½ of an egg, I ½ of a whole eggs and in 7 days the same 6 hens will lay 7 times 4 eggs—28 eggs the answer. Pieused on me the kindness to advice if this is correct, I am anxious to know for self-interest. Yours truly,

ATLANTA, Ga., May 21, 1888.—Editors Constitution:
Dear Sirs: I noticed in your issue of Sunday, May

The Correct Answers. THE CONSTITUTION has been requested to furnish the correct solution to these problems. It is evident that Mr. Pease has given the correct solution to the "money" problem. The catch in it is due to a hurried reading of the problem which will, to most people, convey the idea that two-thirds and one-third of the the idea that two-thirds and one-third of the $100 will be the respective amounts.

The "hen" problem is not so easy to answer. The strict arithemetical answer is doubtless 28 eggs, but this may, or may not be, the true solution of the problem. It is most probable that the true answer is 24. This answer is the one obtained by working on the idea that it takes a full period of a day and a half for one hen to lay one egg, and that no portion of an egg can be laid in a shorter space of time. There are four such periods in 7 days, the extra day not entering into the calculations. In these four periods six hens would lay 24 eggs.

PEERLESS BARILL

His Great Musical Success Last Night.

The Concert Given by the Polymnia Club— Atlanta Talent Under the Master's Baton—A Brilliant Success.

It is probable that at this moment Mr. Alfredo Barili is the proudest man in Atlanta, and no one who attended his concert last night will say that he has not good reason for being BO. If to conduct the best concert ever given in Atlanta is something to make a man feel proud, then Mr. Barili's pride is pardonable. It was expected that the audience would be large, but its proportions outgrew the calcula-tions of even the most sanguine. It was a representative audience. The creme de la creme of Atlanta's society was there. Not only was the parquet and dress circle filled, but hundred ladies occupied seats in the baleony. It was a brilliantly dressed assem-blage. The musicians turned out en mass to blage. The musicians turned out en mass to show their appreciation of Mr. Barili's ef-forts to elevate the standard of music in Atlanta. Their presence in such large numbers was a compliment, which Mr. Barili appreciated. And the concert was worthy of this vast concourse of listeners. The Polymnia club has done good work in its concerts in the past. The club last night eclipsed all of its former efforts, and the young ladies who compose it covered themselves with glory. They never before sang so well.

ing number was chorus for female The opening number was chorus for female voices, by Raff, "Day is at Last Departing," which the Polymnia club sang with fine effect.

Miss Carrie Ward Mathews was received with hearty applause as she appeared upon the stage. She is one of those pianists who awaken enthusiasm even before they touch the piano keys. She selected as the first piece Raff's nocturne, opus 17, by no means a great composition. This she rendered with great clegance. The second selection was Rubinstein's polonaise, a composition of genuine merit, and one which makes large demands upon the executant. Miss Mathews showed that she had triumphed over all the technical difficulties, and had a mature conception of its meaning. Her playing was marked by dainty fingering, by a vigor, and by a refinement which fascinated all her hearers. She was given unbounded applause, and the audience insisted on an encore. This, however, she modestly declined to give.

The Polymnia sang "Day-break," a four part song by Peuret. This was a perfect performance by the ladies. The audience emphatically demanded a repetition, but the singers did not respond.

The closing number of the first part of the voices, by Raff, "Day is at Last Departing," phatically demanded a repetition, but the singers did not respond.

The closing number of the first part of the programme was a bass solo, from Haydn's Creation, Recitative and Aria. This was sung by Mr. Charles W. Kay, the accompaniment being played by Mr. Barili. Mr. Kay's voice is of rare quality and exceptional compass. It has been carefully trained. His phrasing is admirable and his intonation perfect. It is a pleasure to listen to Mr. Kay, and it is to be hoped he may be heard often in public. His singing evoked such applause that he was forced to respond, and he gave "Farewell," by Graham, in an artistic manner.

After a short intermission the members of the orchestra took their places on the stage,

After a short intermission the members of the orchestra took their places on the stage, Mrs. Richard sat before the organ and Miss Vertrees took her position at the piano. The ladies of the Polymnia club occupied the front rows of seats on an elevated platform and the gentlemen sat in the rear of the stage.

The Messe Solenelle—"St. Cecilia"—by Gounod was given by the chorus, with piano, organ and orchestra. The singers numbered about one hundred and there were twelve members of the orchestra. The way this great work was given was indeed a revelation. It is not exaggeration to say that the chorus singing was the best ever beard in Atlanta. This was the verdict of the critics.

The opening passage, "Hear Our Prayer," for solo, trio and chorus was very fine. Mrs. Anna Mays-Dow sang the soprano, Mr. Southard the tenor, and Mr. Eugene Hardeman the

Mrs. Dow's voice was as clear as a bell, and every note was heard all over the building. She sang with refraement of feeling and a correct understanding. She achieved a notable triumph, and bouquets were showered upon

The parts which followed were equally as good. The orchestra played surprisingly well, and the piano and organ filled out the harmony satisfactorily.

It is hard to decide which part of the mass was the best. The Benedictus was perhaps the most enjoyable. It was given in a spirited manner, and the audience testified its approval by long continued applause.

The rendering of this mass in its entirety was a finished piece of work—beyond all praise.

Mr. Alfredo Barili wielded the baton grace.

The singers Mr. Alfredo Barili wielded the baton gracefully. He is a superb conductor. The singers and instrumentalists are kept in complete control, and they never lag or hurry. Mr. Barili was overwhelmed with compliments and flowers. His admirers flocked on the stage at the close of the performance, and almost consumed him. He was mocset, as usual, and timidly thanked them for their cordial supnort.

The heavy rains during the last few days The heavy rains during the last few days have almost broken up the idea of having a "ofiral festival" in Atlanta. The roses are ruined. Those that are not destroyed are spotted too badly to be mediuse of. The ladies are very much disappointed, but they have not yet given up the plan. The managers are going to try and have it sometime in June, as a great many of the most beautiful roses of the year bloom in that month. It is the intention of the ladies to hold an annual floral festival from this time forward. It can be made a tival from this time forward. It can le made source of much pleasure to all those who will par-

A farewell party was given last night on West Harris street to Miss Aurie Phillips, who leaves with her parents for her new home in Dallas, Texas on Thursday next. It was really a surprise party, it being gotten up by some of the young people of her acquaintance during the afternoon. There were ten couples present, and games, songs and music were indulged in. Refreshments were served in the dining room, and were enjoyed by the guests. After leaving the dining room, dancing was proposed, and several couples indulged in it until time to depart for home. Then came the saddest of words, "farewell," and each in turn wished Miss Aurie a happy future in her western home.

The tournament that takes place today The tournament that takes place today in Americus is creating considerable excitement in that gay little city, and in the towns surrounding. Many society people from Macon, Columbus and Albany are already there, and more are expected today. Atlanta will be represented by Miss Lizzle Fry and Miss Kate Cary, who are now visiting Americus, and whom report sayeth are winning hearts by the score. Misses Fry and Cary are missed by their Atlanta admirers, who will be glad to welcome them home.

left the city a few days ago to accept a position with Shotter & Co., one of the leading firms of Savannah. The reception last evening at the Atlanta Female institute, given by Mr. and Mrs. Constantin Sternberg and Mrs. Ballard was a brilliant affair. It was an art reception tendered to the ladies and gentlemen, who are to take part in the Wagner festival. The spacious rooms of the institute were dressed exquisitely with flowers, and there was a wealth of art treasures displayed attractively. ROBBING THE MAILS.

Many beautimi paintings, statuettes, objects of virtu were on exhibition in the various departments. It was designed by Mr. Sternberg that there should be a combination of the arts. The bust of Wagner was shown and it attracted a great deal of attention. Some of the paintings were lent by the Student's Art League. So fine a collection of art treasures has rarely been seen in Atlanta. Soon after 8 o'clock guests began arriving, and it was not long before the parlors were full of ladies and gentlemen in evening dress. The scene was brilliant. Refreshments were served in the rooms below, and dancing was induged in by the young folks. An impromptu musicale was given, Mrs. Anna Simon-Werner and Mr. Alex W. Smith sang several selections, and Mr. Sternberg played several solos. Miss McGee gave a recitation, which was heartily enjoyed. The reception came to an end at a late hour. terday.

of the Summer Months. Cumberland sland is a delightful spot. It is situated just off the coast near Brunswick, and is in easy reach of that growing city. Nature has done a great deal for Cumberland island, making it one of the prettiest as well as the healthiest places on the South Atlantic coast. Its climate is unsurpassed, while the cool breezes and balmy skies make it a place of great attraction to those seeking rest and

The tourist can find game in abundance, and has no trouble in capturing it. It is one of the best hunting grounds in the south, and thousands of people make an annual tour to the island for that especial purpose. Probably there is no place south of the great fishing grounds of New Foundland where the sport is enjoyed to a greater extent than at Cumberland island. Now is a choice time for fishing, and they are being hooked in large quantities both by the pleasure seeker and by fishermen for the market,

Then the surf bathing is the finest on the southern coast. The beach, which runs far back, is one of almost incomparable attractions, and those who go there and enjoy it will never forget the pleasures it affords. The Cumberland Island hotel is managed by Mr. W. H. Bunkley, who is well and favorably known all over Georgia. His genial nature and affable ways will strongly impress you on first meeting him, and, if possible, improve on acquaintance. He is a whole-hearted gentleman, and does everything possible to make his guests enjoy themselves. This is a good place to spend your vacation. If you are going off to rest awhile, be sure to visit Cum. berland island, and Mr. Bunkley will give you a regal welcome, triumph, and bonquets were showered upon her.

Mr. Southard's voice is thoroughly cultivated but it is not very strong. His singing was much enjoyed and he was the recipient of a great deal of applause.

Mr. Hardeman never sang better. His voice sounded full and round and rich and his rendering of all he essayed was artistic in the highest degree.

The chorus singers showed how well they had been trained, and there was a smoothness, a precision and a volume of tone indeed surprising. This opening movement of the mass made a fine impression upon the audience.

The parts which followed were equally as good. The orchestra played surprisingly well, and the piano and organ filled out the harmony satisfactorily.

It is hard to decide which part of the mass was the best. The Benedictus was perhaps the most enjoyable. It was given in a spirited manner, and the audience testified its approval by long conti ued applause.

The rendering of this mass in its entirety was a finished piece of work—beyond ail

A Letter Carrier Arrested Yes-

Charles Altenader Confronted With His

Charley Altenader, an Atlanta mail carrier,

A warrant charging him with embezzling from the mail was sworn out against him before United States Commissioner Will Haight yesterday afternoon, and he was arrested by Deputy Marshal Ed Murphy. For several months complaints have been made from time to time to Inspector W. W. Simpson of the loss of letters. At first the losses were rethe loss of letters. At first the losses were reported to have been sustained by obscure people living in the outskirts of the city. The inspector has been doing his best all along to find the man who committed these depredations, but his efforts have been in vain. Three months ago complaints began to be lodged with the inspector by neonle nearer the center of the city.

complaints began to be lodged with the inspector by people nearer the center of the city. In many instances complaints of the loss of letters containing money came from merchants. It seemed that the thief was GROWING BOLDER.

About one hundred people have reported to Inspector Simpson the loss of valuable letters. These letters seem to have been taken from the boxes of all the carriers. The inspector became convinced of this fact and made up his mind to give a different turn to his investigations. He ascertained that Altenader was getting to the office about five o'clock every morning—earlier than neces-five o'clock every morning—earlier than necessary. He then began to suspect that Altenader was the thief—that he would come to tenader was the thief—that he would come to the office before the other carriers on purpose to steal letters from their boxes before their arrival. Acting on this idea, Inspector Simpson placed five decoy letters in the boxes, which went through all right.

On Monday night Inspector Simpson determined to make a better test. He prepared twelve decoy letters, eight of which were addressed to people not living on Altenader's route, white the other four were placed in his box. Three of these letters were addressed to West End and one to a number on Mart'n street.

Yesterday morning the unsuspecting carrier got his mail and started on his route. In-spector Simpson secretly gave a man a letter containing three silver dollars and addressed to M. Dauphin, secretary of the Louisiana lottery, with instructions to waplay Altenader and get from him three dollars in bills in exand get from him three dollars in bills in exchange for the silver. The man mot the unsuspecting carrier, showed him the letter and asked him to give him the change, as silver was too heavy to send by mail. Altenader gave him three one dollar bills, which were delivered to Inspector Simpson and proved to be a part of the money which he had marked and placed in the letters. When Altenader returned to the office he was called into the inspector's office and charged with stealing the money. He denied the charge. He was then searched, and in his watch pocket was found $5 in money, which had been marked and put in the letters by the shrewd inspector. This showed that three of the decoy letters had been robbed of their contents, towit: One of $4, the others of $2 each, which made just $8. The fourth letter, which contained $2, had been left on the carrier's desk, and was intact.

"I got it ifrom Miss Morgan this morning," replied the carrier.

"That cannot be true," remarked Mr. Park Woodward, assistant postmaster. "Miss Morgan has not been here today."

The carrier then said that he had gotten the money out of the Louisiana State Lottery, and then became confused.

He afterwards said that he was innocent—that he had gotten a ten dollar bill from Mr. Park Woodward which "Yancey Bryant changed for him, giving him one and two dollar bills for it.

Canadian Catarrh Cure Co.:

Gentlemen—My wife was a great sufferer with Catarrh for over two years. She has been a little troubled ever since she was a child with the disease. About two years ago we were in Mississippi, and while there she was taken down with catarrhal fever; we had three of the best physicians we could get. They broke the fever and left her the worst case of catarrh of the head I ever saw. Her nose ran profusely, and for a year I despaired of her ever getting well. I tried several doctors and they could not cure her, and used every catarrh remedy I could hear of. I spent over $50 the past year for remedies, and all to no effect. At last it became so offensive that you could hardly remain where she was. I offered $1,000 to any doctor who would cure her (and that would have left us homeless), but I would not have cared for that if she could only be cured. We saw an advertisement in the Atlanta Constitution of "Canadian Catarrh Cure," and thought we would try it, and went to your office, when you gave my wife a small sample bottle of your remedy, and told us to come and get a large bottle when that was out. I bought the large bottle, and before she had used all of the bottle shoavas entirely well, and her health fully restored, and now does more work than any woman I know. She used the medicine over six months ago, and there has not been the slightest return or the disease. I hope everybody that has catarrh may find you and be cured. I am a traveling men and have told a great many of your wonderful cure. Yours truly,

W. J. ALBRITTAN.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, May 22—Liquidation of long wheat was the distinguishing feature of the market during a greater part of the time today. The opening was about ½c higher than the closing figures of yesterday, eased off later about ¾c, then rallied ¾c, but under increased speculative offerings became weak, prices declining 1½c, rallied ¾c, again declined ½c, ralled and closed for the regular session about ¾c lower than yesterday—that is, for July, which is the leading future. On the afternoon board there was a spurt, leaving the final figures of the day ¾c higher than yesterday, at 87%c. The weather was fine for the growing crop, and also fine for farm work. The official crop report, received today from the Illinois agricultural department, reports the condition of growing winter wheat as 67 per cent, against 57 per cent as reported by government on May 10. Speculative offerings were large, and, although there were reasons for several declines, each advance was met with renewed selling, although at 86%c for July, the decline was apparently checked by good buying, whether from shorts or investments it was difficult to state. It was quite likely in the interest of some party or parties who had sold at higher prices. Export clearances were but a few thousand bushels at Philadelphia, with nothing at New York. No American wheat has reached Liverpool for several days, and cables were very weak in response to a break on this side.

In the corn pit there was a little better trade than pesterday. Several receiving houses were taking a hand. A story was going the rounds that the clique are bringing in corn which they own in the country on account of acilities for shipment which Chicago affords. Corn by lake and canai can be laid down in New York for 1½c. The blackboard on 'change shows that Chicago is receiving practically all the corn that is moving, and this and other features bear out the story. For a greater part of the time the market was rather firm. July, which sold off on the early break to 54½c, improved to 55½c, eased to 54½c, and after serious fluctuations, closed at 55½c, an even cent higher than last night.

Onts—Cash oats were easier and ½@¾c lower.

Oats—Cash oats were easier and 1/201/20 lower. They did not go down yesterday quite so much as futures. Today there was a reaction from yesterday's decline in the speculative market. There was not so many sellers, and a fair demand existed to cover shorts. As compared with yesterday's latest prices, there was about 1/2c advance. For May the advance was well maintained, but June and July reacted, while the new crop deliveries closed 1/4.

Light receipts of hogs and a firm market produced a steadler feeling on cured products, and, although trading was fast early, it became light toward midday. Offerings of the product were not large, and a firmer undersone developed. The closing sales showed an advance of 10/6012/20 on lard and 71/20 on sort ribs, but only 23/20 on pork. A better demand existed for May pork, and sales were at 22/20 premium for June.

TATE OF GEORGIA, COUNTY OF FULTON—
To the Superior Court of said County: The petition of Mrs. Ollie Adair, Mrs. Amanda J. Moore and Mrs. S. E. Goldsmith, of said county, shows that a home for orphan children is about to be established in said county, to be known as the "Georgia Baptist Orphans' Home." Your petitioners further show that they and their successors in office desire to be invested with corporate authority for the control and management of said home, to receive donations, make purchases and effect allemations of realty or personalty, not for the purpose of trade and profit, but for the purpose of promoting the general design and looking after the general interests of said home. Your petitioners further pray that they be given authority to make such constitution and by-laws for the regulation and government of said home as they may deem wise and expedient, and ask that the management and control of said home be vested in the following board of directors, to-wit: The said Mrs. Olle Adair, Mrs. Amanda J. Moore and Mrs. S. E. Goldsmith, and that each of said named members of said board be authorized by this charter to name her successor in said office in case of her resignation or death, and that such authority be continued in such successor to name a person to succeed her in said office in case of her resignation or death, and as on adminitum, said board of directors to consist of three members, which number is never to be increased or diminished. Your petitioners pray that they and their successors in office be invested with the corporate authority a foresaid, and such ofher corporate powers as may be suited to said enterprise, and not inconsistent with the laws of said state, nor violative of private rights. Your petitioners further pray the granting of an order investing and clothing them and their successors in office be invested with the corporate authority and powers as aforesaid, to remain of force twenty years, with the privilege of renewal, unless sooner revoked by law. A VITAL QUESTION Discussed by Dr. Pentecost at Trinity Church Last Night.

The World Says That Christians Are Either Hypocrites or Deluded People—The Divinity of Christ Shown.

The congregation at Trinity church last night was much larger than on the night be-fore. The interest in the meetings seems to be increasing. The church was crowded, and a more attentive congregation was never seen in

Dr. Pentecost selected for his theme for the hour the divinity of Christ. It was the vital question. Before it all other things are swept into insignificance. It had now been about nineteen hundred years since Christ came into the world. The world knew Him not then, did not recognize him as the Son of God. The same could be said of those who professed themselves to be Christians nineteen hundred same could be said of those who professed themselves to be Christians nineteen hundred years ago.

The attitude of the world toward Christ or Christians is the same today as it was nineteen hundred years ago. The world admitted in that day that Christ was a most remarkable man—that he was a phenomenon among men; that he spake as never man spake; that he was a prophet; but the world did not admit that he was the son of God or that those who professed to be Christians and followed Him were born again by supernatural power.

The world denies today that Christ is the son of God, and that His followers have experienced a genuine change of heart brought about by the divine influence—the supernatural power of the Christ.

The world says two things about people who profess to be Christians.

That they are hypocrites, or that they are deluded people. This is plain language. The world says that one class of people who call themselves Christians are pretenders, and that the other class of people who call themselves Christians are pretenders, and that the other class of people who call themselves Christians are pursuing a phantom.

The commonest objection raised by the world against professing Christians is that people who profess religion do notshow it in their lives—that they are manifestly leading divine lives, when in reality they are not—that they are inconsistent, as there is no confidence to be placed in them—that the lives of Christians do not average up with the lives of men of integrity who do not profess religion.

It must be confessed that there is some reason in the view held by the world. Some men who are in the church have violent tempers, which they do not neglect to exhibit sometimes. There are other men in the church whose whole hearts seem to be set upon business and riches. The world points to those professing Christians who are so worldly, and says that there is nothing in Christianity, because there is no difference in the lives of believers and non-believers.

I am glad the world criticises the inconsistencies of Christians. I am glad, because such criticisms have a strong tendency to hold professors of Christianity down to their reli-

But the answer to all this is that all Chris-

But the answer to all this is that all Christians are not hypocrites, and that all Christians are not simply enthusiasts. There are a great many very worthy and sincere people, who are carnestly endeavoring to lead Christian lives—people who devoutly believe that they have been born again, that they have been cut away from the old Adam stock, and engrafted upon the Jesus stock; people who have in their hearts the precious assurance that they are the sons of God through the divine power of the Christ.

The world says that Christianity may be a very good thing for women and children—that the morality of the thing is all right—but that hard-headed business men are strong enough without it. The question of questions is this: Who is Jesus Christ? In order to draw his disciples out—in order to test their faith, Jesus on one occasion asked them, "Whom do men say, that I, the son of man, am?" The answer was that some said he was the prophet spoken of by Moses—some that he was Jeremiah—some that he was an imposter, and so on. Jesus then said: "Whom do ye say that I am?" Peter answered: "The Christ, the son of the living God." This answer showed conclusively that Peter was moved by divine power. It contains the very essence of faith. It is a glorious fact. Christ is the son of the living God, and those who believe this mighty truth are sons of God through the influence of divine power.

"What do you say about him?" asked Dr.

might truth are sons of God through the influence of divine power.

"What do you say about him?" asked Dr. Pentecost. This the vital question.

I have been told that there is no infidelity in the south, that all believe in Jesus Christ, but do they simply believe in him as a marvellous man, or do they believe that "the Christ is the Son of the living God?"

All through ages down to the present time the great issue has been between faith and unbelief. The fierce controversy has always raged and still rages about the person of Christ. Was he, or was he not, the Son of God. This is the vital question which must be settled.

Doctor Pentecost then reviewed the history of Jesus Christ as it is given in the New Testament, and gave many illustrations of the fact that he was the son of God. It was shown that even the devils so regarded him.

The excellent sermon was closed with a powerful appeal to the congregation to accept Jesus Christ as the son of God.

A MISTRIAL.

Frank Harralson Tried in the City Court for Pointing a Pistol at Abe Fry. A good deal of interest was shown in the case of the state against Frank Harralson, indicted for pointing a pistol at Abe Fry, which was tried yesterday morning in the city court. The defendant was in the court with his attorneys, Messrs. Sibley and Newman, and Abe

The defendant was in the court with his attorneys, Messrs. Sibley and Newman, and Abe Fry was present as prosecutor.

It was proved that the defendant, with a cowhide in one hand and a pistol in the other, went into Abe Fry's establishment and that he pointed the weapon at Mr. Fry's head. The prosecutor did not charge the defendant with striking him with the whip; in fact, he stated distinctly that Harralson did not strike him. Several witnesses explained how the difficulty happened, and they gave the details which were published in The Constitution the morning after the row.

Mr. Haralson was permitted to make his statement. He admitted having sought Fry for the purpose of chastising him with a rawhide, and confessed having carried a pistol in one hand and a cowhide in the other. He also admitted that it was his purpose to lash Fry and if he resisted to kill him.

After all the evidence was in it seemed doubtful whether Haralson had actually pointed the pistol at Fry, and this was the rock upon which the jury split.

The jury stayed out two hours, and decided that it was impossible to agree upon a verdict. Thereupon Judge Van Epps ordered that a mistrial be marked on the docket.

Solicitor O'Bryan Discovers Why the Negro Girl was Kept in Jail. Solicitor O'Bryan Discovers Why the Negro Girl was Kept in Jail.

Solicitor General Frank O'Bryan, of the city court, said yesterday to a reporter that, after making further investigation of the case of Carry White, he discovered that her name appears on the jail record in the sheriff's office as Lizzie McIntosh; that she was no doubt properly committed, and the record shows date of commitment, by whom, her age and offense committed. Her aliases may have led to her improper detention, or the misplacing of the papers from Justice Landram's court. Commitment papers only are furnished the jailer when prisoners are sent thereto, and he is, therefore, satisfied that no one connected with the sheriff's office is to blame for her detention. He concludes that she may be fortunate that the papers could not be found, as a conviction would have resulted more seriously than a few weeks' detention in Fulton county jail.

Bead Before the Medical Society of London a Paper on the Use of "Carlsbad Water," of Which the Following is an Abstract:

In speaking of those diseases in which the use of Carlsbad Water is indicated I will confine myself to those in which evidence is given for thoroughly established usefulness.

First are to be mentioned diseases of the stomach, among them and above all the true Chronic Catarrbal Inflammation, with substantial changes of the mucous membrane, with ulceration and gathering of stringy and often somewhat offensive mucous.

ering of stringy and often somewhat offensive muccous.

The unnatural metions of the stomach causing pressure and beledines, the irritations of the intestines resulting in catarrh of the bowels, and the inflamed mucous membranes are the most fruitfal of all known causes of disease. Out of them grow most kidney and liver troubles, diabetes, all rhoumatic affections and gout. I have found that the unnatural motions of the stomach cease, the intestinal troubles become soothed, and health results from the use of Carisbad Water. The dieuretic effect of this water, its quet action upon the lining of the stomach, an i its healting power upon the inflamed intestines are beyond all praise.

GOUT is well recognized as arising from excess of urle acid in the blood. This theory is supported by the FAVORABLE ACTION of the Carlsbad Waters. Dr. Lustig, of Teplity, issued a pamphlet wherein he recognized the great efficacy of Carlsbad Waters in RHEUMATISM, both acute and chronic, when taken COLD.

RHEUMATISM, both acute and chronic, when taken COLD.
Carishad Water is in no sense a mere purgative as most people believe, but is an alternative and eliminative remedy, which dissolves out tenacious bile, allays irritation and removes obstruction BY AID-ING NATURE, and not by sudden and excessive stimulants as most cathartic remedies do. Its action is certain, and a ctre when effected is permanent. Not infrequently patients have to use the Sprudel Salt, in addition to the water, as a laxative. Beware of initiations. The genuine is bottled under the supervision of the city of Carisbad.

A DAMAGE SUIT.

The Atlanta and West Point Railroad Company Sued for $5,000.

There was filed yesterday morning in the office of the clerk of the superior court a suit for $5,000 damages against the Atlanta and West Point Railroad company.

The complainant alleges that he is a resident of Palmetto, and that the 15th of last February, he went to the railway station and applied to the freight agent for certain packages which had been consigned to him; that the agent, named Killian, was very abusive, cursing him and pointing a gun at him.

He seeks to hold the company responsible for the action of its agent, and will not be satisfied with less than the amount he sues for.

The best cigars offered the trade always command a big sale. That fact is true with the Grand Republic cigarros. These famous luxuries are manufactured by the great cigar house of George P. Lies & Co, of New York, and are for sale by most every merchant. W. A. Russell is sole agent in this part of the country, and you just keep your eye on him. He is going to make these cigars hump. The fact that the Grand Republic cigarros and Buffo are a real ten cent article sold for five cents had much to do with their popularity. These cigars have been recognized for ome time as leaders in this market, and it is safe to say they will continue to lead. The buffos are put up four in a package and sold for ten cents. Four buffos, costing you ten cents, will furnish you more sold enjoyment than any other four cigars costing you twenty cents. What will you do? Why, smoke the buffos and the Grand Republic cigarros. A Sweet Opera Singer Strikes a High Note.

Hearing that a member of the Carleton Opera Company, which delighted Chicago audiences with comic opera, held one-twentieth of licket No. 82,114, which drew $50,000 in the March drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery, a Traveler representative was informed that Miss Clara Wisdom was the fortunate person. Calling at her hotel, Miss Clara Wisdom, who is a very attractive young lady of twenty-two, and whose voice and manners are quite as charming as her appearance, said: "I held one-twentieth of ticket No. 82,114 which drew $50,000 in the March 13th drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery Co. The Carleton Opera Company was en route to Denver, and at Ogdon a vender came into our car, and remembering a five dollar gold piece which I had found in Los Angeles, I thought I would invest. Well, it didn't win the largest prize but it has brought me $2,500 which will assist my memory wonderfully.—Chicago (Ill.) Arkansaw Traveler, April 7.

A BOY KILLED.

A Darkey Run Over Yesterday at Horse Runs Away and His Rider ing Car and Instantly Killed.

A fatal accident occurred yesterday morning a few minutes after 8 o'clock at the Peters street railroad crossing, just as the incoming 8 o'clock accomodation was crossing the street. The accident was a strange combination of accidents, and began with a runaway.

he wheeled suddenly to one side, stumbling as he did so, and his unfortunate rider was thrown head formost across the track, falling between the front and rear trucks of the last car.

He fell with the upper part of his body under the car, his legs being on the outside. Before he could move the rear trucks had passed across his abdomen and across both arms. Both hips were crushed and the bedy cut almost iy two. The right arm was cut almost entireln off just above the elbow and hung by a strip of which is the country of t

As the train rolled past the horse dashed across the track and was caught later at the corner of Peters and Forsyth streets.

For twenty minutes or more the body was allowed to remain just as it was in the mud and the rain. It was then carried to Wyley & Bowden's undertaking establishment, on West Alabama street, where the inquest was held. The jurymen were J. J. Jones, foreman, T. C. Ryan, J. W. Williams, B. D. Lee, A. T. Baldwin, H. V. Barrow, T. G. Ragland, S. A. Stroud, James Phillips, T. C. Waits, J. S. Watson, and George Gressaid. The witnesses examined were Will Slavington and Adolphus Bailey, colored, and S. F. Mobley, W. H. Graham and J. L. Malone. The verdict was as follows:

"We, a coroner's jury, this day empanelled to inquire into the cause of the death of Charles Jones, colored, here lying dead, find from the evidence seduced and from the opinion of the county physician here present that deceased by his own care-lessness in riding a run way horse was thrown under a moving train on the Central railroad and killed, but we blame Green Patterson, colored, for causing the horse to run away."

BROUGHT BACK.

Mrs. Anglin Here Under Bond and Mr. Anglin Expected Back This Morning.

It will be remembered that Mr. and Mrs. Anglin, at whose house on West Mitchell street the twelve-year-old child, Minnie Hawkins, was found Sunday morning, disappeared before the trial was called in recorder's court Monday morning and could not be found.

The woman had deposited $15.75 as collateral and the man was under a bond of $50. Mr. Jas. R. Reynolds was his bondsman.

The woman was located in Griffin Monday night and Patrolman Lynam went after her, returning yesterday afternoon. She was handsomely dressed as she stepped into the office.

"I did't want to go," she explained to Captain Couch, "but my husband was going whether I did or not, and I had to go. They can't do anything with me. The child came there of her own accord, and she staid because she wished to, and not because I made her."

The hushand, or the man that claims to be her husband, was harder to find. Captain Couch, acting chief in Chief Connolly's absence, telegraphed to Rome, Griffin, Social Circle and other places. This answer came from Rutledge about noon:

E. F. Couch, chief police: O. G. Anglin went out in country this morning. Will go after him immediately.

Later the telegram came; Have Anglin. Must I bring him to Atlanta or in the Georgia Pacific Wreck. in the Georgia Pacific Wreck.

Yesterday morning in the undertaking establishment of Wiley & Bowden, on West Alabama street, the core ner's inquest was held over the body of Bob Mance, the negro brakeman killed the night before in the Georgia Pacific wreck, just opposite the old exposition mills.
The jury was composed of J. J. Jones, foreman: Thomas C. Ryan, J. W. Williams, R. D. Lee, A. T. Baldwin, H. V. Barrow, T. G. Ragland, S. A. Stroud, James Phillips, T. C. Waits, J. S. Watson and George Gressard, colored.

The witnesses were W. B. Allen, the engineer; G. W. McDaniel, conductor; W. V. Brown, flagman; Jim Parham, brakeman. The verdict was as follows:
We, the coroner's jury, this day impanelled to inquire into the death of Robert Mance, colored, here lying dead, flud from the evidence adduced and the opinion of the county physician here present, that he was tilled in a run-off on the Georgia Pacific railroad last night.

that he was tilled in a run-off on the Georgia Pa-ciffe railroad last night.

In the pockets of the dead man was found a certificate to John Lankster, colored, as brake-man. This rather strengthened the idea al-ready existing among the police that the darkey is an escaped convict. The certificate was turned over to Bailfff Crim and the case is being investigated.
